The 2nd International Workshop on Cognitive and Neuromodulation Communicative and Innovative Symposium (CN-CIS)

Call for Papers and Abstracts

Introduction

Brain research has become one of the most popular research in the world. Brain research projects have been proposed in many countries around the world. In this vigorous research on brain, the most critical issue is to realize the combination of basic and clinical research, and the transformation from basic research to clinical research, so as to benefit hundreds of millions of patients with brain diseases around the world. Here, we will gather together with basic scientists, electrophysiologists, neurologists and neurosurgeons to discuss the hot spots and frontier issues of the combination of basic research and clinical neuroscience, in order to initiate a new round of cooperative research and translational medicine. We look forward to your participating in this discussion on the integration of basic and clinical research.

Submissions and Publication

Similar to the main conference of BI 2019, we welcome two types of paper submissions:

- Type Ⅰ: Full Paper Submissions. Authors should submit their full papers with a maximum paper length of up to 10 pages in Springer LNCS format using our online submission system (https://wi-lab.com/cyberchair/2019/bi19/scripts/submit.php?subarea=S01&undisplay_detail=1&wh=/cyberchair/2019/bi19/scripts/ws_submit.php). The accepted and presented papers will be published by Springer as a volume of the series of LNCS/LNAI.

- Type Ⅱ: Abstract Submissions. Abstracts have a word limit of 500 words. Experimental research is particularly welcome. Accepted abstract submissions will be included in the conference program and will be printed out as a single, collective Abstract Note.

Submit your abstracts via https://wi-lab.com/cyberchair/2019/bi19/scripts/submit.php?subarea=S01&undisplay_detail=1&wh=/cyberchair/2019/bi19/scripts/ws_submit.php

All submissions will be reviewed by at least two reviewers who will give detailed comments. If the submission gets accepted, the authors will submit a revised ("camera-ready") version that takes into account this feedback.
